Episcopal Parish Elects Officers At Year Session

Christ Episcopal church held its annual parish meeting last Thursday evening. Reports from the different church organizations showed that while they had felt the depression of the past year, all were in good condition and the outlook for the future is bright.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected. They were: Lewis Dreyer, warden; Willis M. Brooks, clerk; and George B. Worcester, treasurer. Delegates elected to the convention are James H. Milburn, George B. Worcester, and Mrs. W. T. Klusman. Those elected to the convention are Mrs. G. P. Shidler, Mrs. George B. Worcester, and Mrs. J. R. Jensen. Alternates chosen were Mrs. J. E. Dalton, Mrs. Caroline Collins, and Mrs. Fred Fischer. Andrew Carlson has taken the place of James H. Milburn as superintendent of the church school. A Bible class for the older members of the church school has been organized.

Would Prohibit Use of Air Rifles in City

Newspapermen Enjoy Meeting

State Publishers Gather for Annual Convention

With "Know Your Own Newspaper" as its theme, the 43rd annual convention of the California Newspaper Publishers' Association was held at Stockton from January 15 to 18. It was the association's second meeting since it became a state-wide organization in 1929. More than 250 California newspaper publishers and their families were in attendance. The Torrance Herald was represented at Stockton by Grover C. Whyte, editor and publisher.

Meetings devoted to business matters and round-table discussions of newspaper problems were held Friday and Saturday in the Stockton civic auditorium. At the session Saturday afternoon, H. R. Judah, co-publisher of the Santa Cruz Daily News, was elected president of the C. N. P. A. Special entertainment for the wives of the publishers and an elaborate banquet, at which Lieut. Gov. Frank L. Merriam was a speaker, were arranged by the Stockton Chamber of Commerce and the host publisher, Irving Martin, of the Stockton Record.

Central Evangelical Guild to Hold Dinner

The Guild of Central Evangelical church will hold another dinner Tuesday, January 27, at the Guild hall, corner of Marcelina and Arlington avenues. WATER SAID HEALTH MENACE AT CORNER

Edward Clarkston reported to the council Tuesday that a large quantity of water had accumulated at the intersection of 220th street and Cabilla avenue, along the Pacific Electric right-of-way, making it a health menace. The city engineer was instructed to write the railroad company concerning the matter and urge its prompt abatement.

Officer's Actions in Dog Case Challenged

Complaining that a young puppy he owned was let out of his garage without his knowledge or consent by a local police officer and was later accidentally killed, H. H. Morrison, of 2405 Carson street, appeared before the City Council Tuesday night. He said the dog was let out during his absence and that the animal was very valuable.

Councilman R. R. Smith, chairman of the Police Commission, will investigate the complaint.

PROSPERITY

It is highly significant that during 1930, when depression was heard on every side, the Metlox Corporation enjoyed the largest volume of business in its history, with December the banner month of the year, and that we enter 1931 with a record number of unfilled orders. Only products of unquestioned superiority could command such tremendous demand.

Progressive business men have been quick to recognize the double advertising value of Metlox signs—with Neon tubes mounted over the famous Metlox non-fading letter—the Letter Eternal.

A Rib Roast by Wire

A FEW MINUTES in the morning to prepare your roast and vegetables... desserts, too, if you wish... and place them in your oven; a fraction of a minute to set simple timing and temperature controls, and your rib roast is ready so far as you are concerned. No matter what you do with the rest of your day (and there are so many pleasant things to do) dinner will be ready, waiting, done to a turn, when 6 o'clock comes.

The fuel which cooks your dinner, the automatic impulses that regulate the cooking, the timing, the waiting, the watching... all these come by wire—those familiar, friendly wires which bring into your home the current for lighting, cleaning, refrigeration, and ever so much else. It's no end economical. And the most modern of electric ranges is surprisingly easy to buy. Why not ask your electric dealer?
